The trial may well provide the most sensational, developments within the Communist party since the Moscow purge trials of 1936-

At the heart of the dispute is the vital question, can a Communist state exist without being tied to the Kremlin's apron strings' It was Moscow's belief that Tito had become too independent and nationalistic that led to the Yugoslav Communist leader's ouster from the Cominform last year. Since that time relations between | Cross Word Stalin and his one-time protege comics ...... have grown progressively worse, and manifestations of "Tito-ism" have been reported throughout

The statement issued by 98 Yugoslav leaders defending Rajak is believed the opening gun in a Belgrade campaign to harass the Budapest proceedings and discredit Moscow's hand in the trial.

BOX SCORE ON SPENDING

It is somewhat surprising to learn that Congress has done quite a job on the President's budget. Government expenditures have not reduced to the irreducible minimum -or to a reasonable minimum-but Mr. Truman will be compelled to get along on slightly less money than he said must be given him.

The score-card, as prepared by the Council of State time alone and rarely seeks the they make them The score-card, as prepared by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, shows that the seven appropriation bills already enacted into law add up to $14,563,903,-tion bills already enacted into law add up to $14,563, 000. The election of the aged Field Marshal his time at home because he finds showed the reactionary trend that was to sweep the Socialists out of the Government and pave the way for the entrance of Hitler. After Hindenburg's death, Hitler did not bother to get elected President. He was the Fuehrer, failure at winning their friendships and there was no one to challenge him.

Heuss is no Socialist; he and his party, the Free Democrats, favor freedom of enterprise and the individual, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. But he is no Prussian Junker or die-hard Nazi, either. He is a liberal professor and ably annoy him, causing him to be writer whose book critical of Hitler was burned by the Nazis. He is in alliance with the Christian Democrats, now the strongest party in West Germany, whose leader, Konrad Adenauer, will be the new Chancellor.

The West German state faces many handicaps and difficulties. The Weimar Republic was unable to survive his younger brother wins at norma and slid into the Nazi dictatorship. It is to be hoped that today's leaders, Heuss, Adenauer and the Socialist Schu- rally, macher, will more strongly resist pressure from either extreme left or rightist elements than did their Weimar fering from jealousy incites him to predecessors.

Big Chase On In Rome (By HENRY McLEMORE)

ROME-I could kick myself, good and hard.

Here I am in Rome at the same time Greta Garbo and Ingrid Bergnan are here, and where do you think my autograph book is? With me? No.

At home? No.

It is in some stationer's shop, waiting for me to have a dizzy spell and go in and buy it As a result, I haven't been able to join in the chase that has had all Rome burning for the past week or so. The sound of sirens in the streets no longer means that a fire truck or an ambulance is tearing past; it usually indicates that one or the other of the two Swedish gals is crossing the city incognito and as inconspicuously as possible. Disguished As Greta Garbo

Miss Garbo, I was told by a rellow lucky enough to catch a glimpse of her after having waited only six hours outside the door of the Hassler Hotel, is disguished as Greta Garbo, which means she looks exactly as everyone expects Greta Garbo to look. Her glasses are of the type generally used for watching an eclipse of the sun, and her hat a large, floppy one that wouldn't be becoming to a scarecrow, is pulled far down over her face.

It seems a shame that I am not spending any time in Rome chasing Miss Garbo or Miss Bergman. I must be getting old, or something, for I much prefer seeing St. Peter's, or wandering through the Sistine Chapel, or admiring the art treasures in the Vatican, or going down in the Catacombs, to chasing about Rome's hot streets for a glimpse of two movie stars who undoubtedly will be remembered long after Michelangelo or Raphael.

Would Like To See Boy Friend

Honesty makes me admit, however, that I would like to see Miss Bergman's Stromboli boy friend, Roberto Rossellini, who is chaperoning her on her visit to Rome. I have seen pictures of this Casanova of the Camera, but I want to see him in the flesh, and find out for myself if ne is as unglamorous as the photographers make him out to be.

If he is, then my belief in my own charm will leap five hundred, yea, a thousand per cent. He hasn't much more hair than a clipped poodle, and his stomach profile isn't any better than that of thousands of us. If he can get movie actresses to swoon over him, why, there is hope for the rest of us to set Hollywood on its ear.

You let me get all dressed up in my white flannel trousers, a Norfolk jacket and a straw hat, and I'll bet I'll look every bit as good as Roberto does.

And wait'll I tell you about how I can handle a camera! Some of the results I got would make the eyes of Chaperone Roberto pop right out of his head. The last batch is being developed today, and tomorrow I'll be able to give you a full report on the works of one of photography's most undistinguished men. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Agricultural Department Makes Report Of Milk Production Rise In State

HARRISBURG, Sept. 15 .-- (INS) Pennsylvania's cows are headed for a new annual milk production record, the Agriculture department reported today.

Dairy herds yielded more milk in August than during any other August on record with a total of 502,000,000 pounds. The output was three per cent more than for August 1947 the former record the congressional mind than a trip of pastures during the month was rated by dairymen as only 67 per cent of normal, lowest since 1944." Milk production in the state so far this year has been higher, month by month, except for July than the corresponding months last year, the department said. Record production for any year was more than five and one-half million pounds in 1947 and observers believe a new record will be established this year, the department reported A number of milk cows on farms this August was estimated at 966. 000, the same as in July, but 13, 000 more than in August last year

Weather conditions in the north east quarter of the state were especially unfavorable throughout most of the summer, the survey showed. Not enough rain affected yield of hay and supplies are inadequate in some localities.

'Cloth Curtain' Is Torn Aside

British Magazine Berates Marshal Stalin And Soviet Chieftians On

By WALLACE HULLETT (L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 15.—The British sartorial magazine "Tailor and Cutter" tore aside the "cloth curtain" today and bereated Marshal Stalin and his Soviet chieftains for their "bourgeois" tasts in

In the face of the fact that the mere word "bourgeois," or middleclass, is enough to give old-line Bolsheviks an opolectic strike, the magazine said:

"Marshal Stalin's clothes are so plain as to be almost inexpicable. "Their military aspect is perhays reminder of the Russian military might-or-might-not. A kind of garmental big strick, a sort of satorial sabre rattle (Editor's note: This recalled a revolution in men's and women's styles recently decreed by the Communist-led Tailors' and Dress-makers' Union of Hungary. A formal Budapest announcement called for the removal of all "west ern-style" clothing from Budapest shelves and show-windows on the grounds they reflect the "bour-geois" taste which all dyed-in-thewool Communists are taught to

More in sorrow than in anger. the article observed that Russian notables who have been ambassadors in London appear to have learnt little from Savile Row, headquarters of Britain's fashionable tailors.

Maxim Litinov, first Soviet ambassador to London in 1918, is in-clined to look as though his suspenders have broken, the magazine acidly remarked.

Sartorial Offender Ivan Maisky, another former ambassador to Britain, is also a sartorial offender. His crime is fastening his bottom waistcoat but-

"The leave-it-undone style was created by royalty," the magazine pointed out. "This would immediately make it unpopular with the Russians:'

Fashion in Russia seems to have died with the aristocracy, mourned the magazine. The Russian's humdrum neatness, coupled with naive mistakes, give him a rather bourgeois" look.

And now, with food plentiful even in Berlin, no frau-lein is any longer compelled to pickup an American GI because a chocolate bar or a nickel-box of cookies from the PX spells the difference between hunger and subsistence

If a fraulein goes with an American soldier now, it is probably because she likes him rather than his PX rations. However, I do not want to be knocked out by any sweeping statements. There are still enough frauleins left, apparently, to cause the following sign to be posted in the big PX at Om-

A FREE SHINE

People seem to like to keep things shining. Big brother likes a bright shine on his shoes.

Mom spends a lot of time shining the windows and floors and some other places too.

There is one kind of shine which comes for free. It is the best kind of all. Sunshine is a life giver. Perhaps most people do not spend enough time enjoying open air sunshine. A few minutes of sun-

-(INS)-A Springfield policeman is out to establish a new record, but car-driving citizens of the western Massachusetts city aren't too happy about it. Patrolman Christopher Joseph Aspall, 59, intends to break his own mark for handing out park-ing tickets. To date, the officer has distributed an average of 119 tickets daily to overtime car parkers.

Since he started his campaign against overtime parkers on September 10, 1945, Aspall — who doesn't own a car-has handed out 123,073 tickets. In 1946, he passed out 31,254, and in 1947, 31,665.

To make his work easier, Aspall carries a wand. But it isn't one of the fairy godmother variety.

Aspall's "weapon" is a chalk-tipped stick with which he marks the tires of cars on his beat. He returned later on, and if the car is. still there, he hangs a ticket on it. Received 22 Tickets

John Hardy, of West Springfield, Mass., can attest to Aspall's prowess with a chalk-stick. So far, Hardy has received 22 tickets from the policeman to whom writers cramp is an unknown ailment. Aspall confesses there is drawback to his ambition-filling in the tickets at home uses up most of his spare time. But he manages to take care of each day's work before he turns in. Although Aspall has not acquired a reputation as a good-natured policeman, the person who received tickets from him on last St. Patrick's Day grudgingly admit he has a sense of humor. For on that day, Aspall substituted green chalk for the white he generally

Still Wielding Chalk

However, persons who have toyed with the idea of using this defense to fight tickets from Aspall have been discouraged-and the policeman is still wielding his

Among the results of Officer Aspall's work was the granting of two judges to Springfield. The Massachusetts state legislature, faced with Aspall's imposing recadmitted that the district court has a tremendous amount of business to transact.

Every year, the policeman goes on vacation, and the lagging traffic business in the Springfield courts attests to the fact that he is not on duty. But when he returns, he gen

Right now your heating contractor can schedule your installation at a time convenient to youand in plenty of time to assure you gas heat even if cold weather should strike early this year. You're sure of a firm price, too, if you act now So call your heating contractor right away .. today.

A limited number of GAS HEATING priorities available in some areas

If you have not yet applied for a gas heating priority and wish to do so, check with your local gas company office. A limited number of priorities are available in some areas.

More and more people are turning to gas for heat because it's clean, convenient and economical. During the past year we've been able to increase our facilities to accommodate a larger number of these people.

But bear this in mind. Priorities are issued in the order in which applications are received. So, if you want to enjoy the comfort and convenience of gas heat, you'd better get your application in right away.

Tests Direct College Path

-Many thousands of students en-ter American colleges each year with little more than a hazy idea of what they intend to do or are qualified to study.

That is the assertion of Dr. A. W. Wellek, director of the University of New Mexico counseling and testing services.

The counsellor said he is puzzled

The counsellor said he is puzzled to find so many families willing to spend several thousand dollars on college education for their children without a sound idea of what the children are qualified to study. He pointed out that many students dropped for poor scholarship are merely on the wrong lines of study. He said that about 60 to 70 engineering students at the university switched to industrial university switched to industrial arts courses this past year after finding they did not have the "savvy" for complicated engineer-

"Still, they liked the feel of tools in their hands and generally did well at cabinet making, ornamental fron work and other industrial art courses.' Regional conferences on counseling and testing to assist high schools in setting up a guidance program have been recommended by Dr. Wellck, who feels that helping students find a suitable life work is of tremendous value to the nation, state and individual com-
